Celebrate Autumn and Apple Picking With Your Best Friend!

An Apple A Day Helps To Keep The Vet Away!

Always feed organic apples as conventional apples contain toxic insecticides. Apples may be fed in small chunks or they may be made into a puree, juiced with organic carrots and celery for maximum therapeutic results

Approximately 70% of your pets immune system is in the intestines. Apples contain lots of healthy fiber and pectin, beneficial for the stomach and intestines. By keeping the immune system strong, disease is less likely to manifest. We suggest including organic apples into your pets daily program for a healthy digestive tract and immune system along with:
